Banyan Tree's signature restaurant specialises in modern Thai cuisine, and its elegant Thai-style décor reflects this. Thai silk brocades, hand-woven by Thai village women, are draped along the walls as art work, and the banana leaf, an important element of Asian cuisine, is creatively incorporated in the furnishing as the main design element.

Contemporary African is the theme for Au Jardin d'Epices, and the interior design keeps to primitive patterns and natural textures such as rock and wood. Naturally dried Indonesian creepers adds an exotic touch, and the mirrors reflecting the view of Intendance Bay outside brings the beauty of the nature indoors to the diners.

La Varangue Bar
